

8 HOURS' work, 8 hours' play, 8 hours' sleep—so the day is divided. The 8 hours' work—in stores, shops and markets—follow the reading of the morning paper. The 8 hours of play and 8 hours of sleep follow the publishing of the evening paper. Morning paper advertising is alive during the day.

THE WASHINGTON HERALD

THERE isn't a day goes by that doesn't furnish fresh evidence of the fact that the morning paper is the news-paper, presenting the news while it is alive and important. There is a difference between news and "re-write" and that difference is the difference between morning and evening newspapers.

Hughes Kissed by His Wife When Election News Comes

(By the International News Service.)

New York, Nov. 7.—At 9 o'clock to-night Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes ran to the side of her husband in their suite in the Hotel Astor, threw her arms around his neck, and kissed him. She repeated the caress three times.

"I'm so glad, so glad!" she cried. "You are the President of the United States."

The little woman was weeping like a girl. Her husband, for the first time in the evening showing traces of emotion—provoked more by his wife's fervor than by his own sense of victory—placed his arms around her and told her to be calm.

The candidate's three daughters—Elizabeth, Helen, and Catherine—were well-nigh hysterical. The candidate's son, Charles Evans, Jr., shook his head wildly and placed an arm about the quiet man's shoulder.

Dr. Colin Carter, Mrs. Hughes' brother, was boyish in his delight and attempted no concealment of it. Miss Dorothy Radley, granddaughter of William C. Murchenheim, proprietor of the hotel, entered the suite bearing a huge basket containing 100 American Beauty roses.

From the adjoining rooms there came a roar that was nothing less than a wave of victory. On the roof of the hotel a huge American flag had been raised and from the corners fierce searchlights played upon it.

Over the stone doors of the hotel an enormous electric sign had been hung and suddenly it flared alight with the letters H-U-G-H-E-S.

From the street below there came a wild clamor. There arose a thousand calls for "Hughes," "Hughes."

And the news came to Charles Evans Hughes.

And for all the emotion he displayed—save for the moment when his wife wept happily before his eyes—he might have yet been the tactful justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

In rooms near by the one he occupied were compiling tables. When the news came that the New York World, President Wilson's personal organ, conceded the election of the Republican candidate, the maddened men in the nearby rooms fell back in their chairs. It was for them, now, to merely figure up the number of electoral votes. Further conjecture was unnecessary.

CHICAGO VOTE LARGEST EVER.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Chicago today cast more votes than any city in the world ever cast in one day.

More than 600,000 voters had expressed their preference for President up to 3 o'clock this afternoon, according to estimates by Dennis Egan, chief clerk of the election board.

The balloting broke all records.

GEORGIA 100,000 FOR WILSON.

Atlantic, Ga., Nov. 7.—The Democratic ticket carried Georgia by increased pluralities today. Woodrow Wilson received nearly 100,000 votes to about 20,000 for Hughes.

The Republicans showed little activity and the votes won by Theodore Roosevelt four years ago went in a great measure back to the Democratic column. Few of the Democratic Congressional delegation of twelve had any opposition, and nowhere was the ticket in any danger.

THOUSANDS SEE TRAGEDY

Motorman Arrested on Manslaughter
Charge—Wagon Hid Warning Signal.

(By the International News Service.)

Boston, Nov. 7.—Between fifty and sixty persons were drowned without a fighting chance for their lives when a crowded street car dove head first through the open draw of the Summer street extension bridge into the waters of Fort Point Channel, shortly before 5:30 o'clock this evening. The car was bound from South Boston toward Boston. According to the conductor, George McKeen, there were 62 passengers in the car, mostly employees of South Boston factories. But eight persons have been reported saved. These included Gerard Walsh, motorman, who was arrested, charged with manslaughter, and Conductor McKeen.

Wagon Hides Danger Signal.

According to the story told by the motorman to the police, the big arc light over the center of the bridge, which generally illuminates the approach, was out. A wagon in the car tracks ahead of the car, he says, shut off his view of the red lamp which witnesses say was hanging on the gates of the draw. The brakes failed to work, the car crashed through the gates, dived headlong and plunged into the water below.

The accident happened just at the evening rush hour. Thousands of workers soon gathered on both banks of the channel.

Mayor Aids Rescue Work.

Firemen and police were called and Mayor Curley moved quickly to take charge of the work of rescue of possible living and of the bodies of the dead.

While fire apparatus lined both sides of the draw, a fire boat and police boats raced to the scene, through which was flowing an outgoing tide. The police in rowboats patrolled the stream, picking up bodies. Preparations were hastily made for bringing lighters to the scene and raising the car.

William Good broke through a window and succeeded in raising himself to the surface. His head was terribly bruised and he was suffering from internal injuries. Firemen aided him to reach the bridge on a ladder which was lowered over the side.

Arthur Smith and John McDonald, who were near the front vestibule when the car went through the bridge, broke through windows and were found swimming some distance from the car. They were picked up by firemen and collapsed as soon as they were brought on the bridge. Both are suffering from serious bruises.

Leaps From Platform.

John McDonald, of Roxbury, was sitting in the rear of the car and as it started to go through the bridge had the presence of mind to jump into the water. After swimming for a while he was picked up by one of the draw tenders.

Nelson McFarland, of Dorchester, and Frank McFarland, of Roxbury, were standing on the platform. They jumped, swam to shore and were hauled to land.

The channel at this point is approximately seventy-five feet deep, and the drop from the bridge to the surface of the water is estimated at forty feet.

In addition to a powerful sea-going tug a destroyer was sent from Charlestown. While search went on the police had a difficult task in restraining the 20,000 spectators from breaking through the lines.

DR. CONSTANTIN DUMBA, RECALLED ENVOY, DEAD

Former Austrian Ambassador to U. S.
Succumbs, Says Dispatch.

(By the International News Service.)
Geneva, Nov. 7.—Dr. Constantin Dumba, former Austrian Ambassador to the United States, died today, says a dispatch from Vienna.

On Saturday it was announced in Vienna that Emperor Francis Joseph had accepted Dr. Dumba's resignation from the diplomatic service of Austria-Hungary.

Dr. Dumba was named Austro-Hungarian Ambassador to the United States in 1913 and served until September, 1915, when his recall was asked by President Wilson. The demand for the diplomat's recall followed revelations that he was engaged in propaganda to cripple the output of American munitions factories by fomenting strikes.

S. S. ARABIA TORPEDOED AND SUNK, SAYS REPORT

London, Nov. 7.—The passenger steamship Arabia, of the Peninsula and Oriental Line, bound from Sydney, New South Wales, for England was torpedoed and sunk, according to a report received here. All her passengers are believed to have been saved.

The Arabia registered 7,833 tons and was built in 1908. It is probable that the disaster occurred in Mediterranean waters.

INDIANA BACKS G. O. P.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 7.—Indiana has reversed her verdict of four years ago. The entire Republican ticket has been elected. Charles E. Hughes has a plurality ranging from 30,000 to 40,000 over President Wilson.

Senators John W. Kern and Thomas Taggart have been defeated by Harry S. New and James E. Watson by comfortable margins.

John A. M. Adair, Democratic candidate for governor, loses to James P. Goodrich by a vote ranging from 20,000 to 40,000. J. Frank Hanly, Prohibition candidate, received only a small vote.

The Indianapolis Star claims a clean sweep of the state for the Republicans. Hughes, governor and two United States Senators.

"FINE! BULLY!" SAYS T.R. ON HEARING OF VICTORY

Oyster Bay, Nov. 7.—"Fine! Bully!" were the explosive ejaculations from Col. Theodore Roosevelt tonight when informed that Charles Evans Hughes had been elected President. The Colonel issued the following statement:

"I am doubly thankful as an American for the election of Mr. Hughes. It is a vindication of our national honor. Because of some charges that have been made I wish to state now that I will not under any circumstances make any recommendation to appointments or to legislative policy."

Johnson's Lead 200,000.

38 VOTES MARGIN IN ELECTORAL BODY WON BY HUGHES

Republican Candidate Has 304 and Wilson 227 of Members in Federal College.
North Swept by G. O. P.

(By International News Service.)

New York, Nov. 8.—Charles Evans Hughes and Charles Warren Fairbanks have been elected President and Vice President of the United States by a lead of approximately 77 in the Electoral College over their opponents. Hughes now has 304 votes, Wilson 227. Four States are in doubt.

The latest returns indicate that the Republican candidates have made almost a clean sweep of the Northern, Eastern and Western States.

Ohio, Nebraska, Washington and Maryland are still in doubt. For a time toward midnight Massachusetts was doubtful, but now seems safely in the Hughes column.

PLACED IN HUGHES COLUMN.

Delaware, West Virginia and Oregon, which had not been heard from early in the evening, have gone to Hughes.

Utah, which four years ago was one of the two States that went for Taft, has this year gone for Wilson. Montana has also given her four electoral votes to Wilson.

So complete was the Republican sweep that there seems to be a probability of an overturn of the Democratic majority in the House of Representatives. Until complete returns are in it will be impossible to make a forecast, but the Republicans now claim a majority of ten or twelve votes.

SENATE MAJORITY DWINDLES.

The Democratic majority in the Senate has been heavily cut down, but the Democratic control will still be sure by four or five votes.

In New York, which former Gov. Hughes carried by 150,000 or more, Gov. Whitman has won a victory over his Democratic opponent, Samuel Seabury, by nearly 200,000.

William M. Calder, Republican candidate for United States Senator, defeated William F. McCombs, Democrat, by considerably more than 200,000.

Although all the Wilson newspapers in Greater New York conceded Hughes' election by midnight, the Democratic managers steadfastly insisted that Wilson had been elected.

"DOUBTFULS" GO TO HUGHES.

Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, all doubtful States and all claimed by the Democrats by big majorities, have all turned into the Hughes column. Ohio is still in the balance.

In Illinois, where the women voted for President, the Hughes plurality approached 200,000. The relative vote of the men and women was almost the same, which means that the women favored Hughes almost to the same extent that the men did.

Connecticut, confidently claimed by the Wilson leaders, was among the first States to show that it was for the Republican candidate. With it went all New England, including Massachusetts, where the Hughes majority was something like 8,000.

Cities with great German populations, such as Cincinnati, St. Louis and Milwaukee, piled up huge pluralities for Hughes. Hamilton County, Ohio, in which Cincinnati is located, went for Hughes by 18,000, while Cuyahoga County, which surrounds Cleveland, was for Wilson. Wherever there was a majority of German-American residents there was a majority for Hughes.

MIDDLE WEST IS SOLID.

The Middle West appears to be almost solidly for Hughes, leaving Wilson little but the solid South upon which to count with certainty.

The general result, on the face of present returns, indicates that the split in the Republican party occasioned by the Roosevelt defection in 1912 has been completely healed.

The Hughes pluralities approximated the figures of the combined Taft and Roosevelt vote of four years ago. As far as could be gathered the efforts of one wing of the Progressives to drive the members of their party into the Wilson camp failed utterly.

Returns in New York showed plainly that the record of Gov. Whitman has been satisfactory to the electorate. President Wilson ran far ahead of his ticket, as also did Calder, Republican candidate for Senator. McCombs, one of the leaders of the movement to put Mr. Wilson in the White House four years ago, was beaten for Senator by nearly 200,000.

The Prohibitionists, who had great hopes of making headway toward the status of a national party in this election, have lost Maryland, but have probably carried North Dakota.

In Indiana, where the political battle was hotter than in any other State, the Democratic candidates for the United States Senate—John W. Kern and Thomas Taggart, incumbents—have been defeated by Harry S.
